

A black and white photograph of Peter Dimler, a man in a dark suit, white shirt, and dark tie. He is captured in a moment of performance, singing into a vintage-style microphone and playing a white and black Roland accordion. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting his face and the instrument. The name 'Peter Dimler' is written in a large, elegant white cursive font on the left side of the image.

Peter Dimler

After selling millions of 45 singles and Cds with the English folk band Street Boys in the 80s, Peter Dimler moved to France where he became the ultimate vocal understudy of Franck Sinatra.

While singing, he can also play the accordion or being accompanied by numerical Musette, Jazz or Bebop. Real quartet or Jazz Big Band.
